For the Seventh Consecutive Year, 10 Students with Gastrointestinal Disease Will Each Receive a $10,000 Scholarship

LAVAL, QC, Aug. 17, 2026 /PRNewswire/ -- Bausch Health Companies Inc. (NYSE: BHC)(TSX: BHC) and its gastroenterology (GI) business, Salix Pharmaceuticals ("Salix"), today announced the recipients of its 2026 Salix Gastrointestinal Health Scholars Program. For the seventh year, Bausch Health is proud to award 10 deserving students living with a GI disease $10,000 each to further their higher education.

"The extraordinary response to our scholarship program is a testament to the resilience, ambition, and perseverance of students living with gastrointestinal conditions," said Aimee Lenar, President of US Pharma, Bausch Health. "Their determination to pursue their educational goals despite the challenges they face is truly inspiring. Each year, we are honored to hear their stories and proud to provide financial support that helps remove barriers, create opportunities, and empower the next generation of leaders."

The 2026 scholarship recipients were chosen from a competitive pool of over 450 applicants. As part of the selection process, candidates submitted personal essays detailing how their gastrointestinal condition has shaped their educational journey and highlighting the support provided by their health care providers in helping them achieve their academic and personal milestones. All applications were thoroughly evaluated by an independent panel of judges.

The program recognizes students across a wide range of educational pursuits, with scholarships in three categories, including the Undergraduate Scholar Awards, for those pursuing undergraduate degrees; the Graduate Scholar Awards, for those pursuing graduate degrees; and the Working and/or Single Parent's Scholar Award, for students who are working and/or single parents pursuing undergraduate, vocational/technical, or graduate degrees.

This year's recipients shared powerful reflections on what Bausch Health's Salix Gastrointestinal Health Scholars Award means to them and how it's helping shape their academic journey.

"Living with Crohn's disease has shaped not only my perspective, but also the physician I hope to become. My experiences as a patient taught me the importance of advocacy, compassion, and creating spaces where people feel seen beyond their diagnosis. I am incredibly grateful to Bausch Health's Salix Gastrointestinal Health Scholars Program for investing in students like me and supporting my journey toward becoming a physician committed to helping patients feel seen, supported, and empowered throughout their care."-Nishant Chadha

"Living with a gastrointestinal disease has shaped who I am today and inspired my dream of becoming a pediatric gastroenterologist. I feel truly humbled and deeply grateful to Bausch Health's Salix Gastrointestinal Health Scholars Program for believing in me and supporting my journey. I am honored by this opportunity and hope to use it to give back to children and families facing similar challenges."-Churnika Gudla Venkata Silva

Another recipient, Sean Gibson said, "I am deeply honored and thankful to receive this scholarship, which is a meaningful reminder that resilience can turn life's greatest challenges into opportunities. It strengthens my confidence and hope as I continue pursuing my goals and making a difference in the Inflammatory Bowel Disease community."

Their words reflect the heart of the program—empowering students to pursue their goals with confidence, support, and pride.
