February 06, 2025

LAVAL, QC, February 6, 2025 - Bausch Health Companies Inc. (NYSE/TSX: BHC) (the "Company" or "Bausch Health"), a global, diversified pharmaceutical company enriching lives through a relentless drive to deliver better health outcomes, issued the following update on a potential sale of its subsidiary, Bausch + Lomb Corporation (NYSE/TSX: BLCO), which was in December 2024 following a regulatory request:

"In the second half of 2024, Bausch Health engaged with its financial advisors to work on various liability management alternatives. At the same time, Bausch + Lomb was approached by a private equity firm with an indication of interest for a potential sale of Bausch + Lomb at a compelling valuation. In light of Bausch Health's desire to complete the full separation of Bausch + Lomb, the Bausch Health and Bausch + Lomb management teams and their boards considered a sale transaction. However, the process did not lead to an offer that reflected Bausch + Lomb's long-term value and the boards determined not to move forward with a sale. The process will not result in a transaction at this time. Bausch Health will continue to own its 88% interest in Bausch + Lomb.

Bausch Health, along with its financial and legal advisors, will continue its efforts to work on various liability management alternatives, including raising new debt financing.

Our priority is to continue to improve the performance of our businesses, which have been performing well in 2024 as evidenced by the raise of our full-year guidance for revenue, adjusted EBITDA and adjusted operating cash flow communicated in our last earnings release issued on October 30, 2024. Bausch Health looks forward to reporting fourth quarter and full year 2024 earnings as well as providing guidance for the 2025 fiscal year after market close on February 19, 2025."

Bausch + Lomb has also issued its own press release on this subject.
