

Biovail Announces Voluntary Recall of Certain Lots of Ultram(R) ER 100mg Tablets

December 30, 2008

TORONTO--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Dec. 30, 2008--Biovail Corporation today announced a voluntary recall of certain lots of Ultram(R) ER (extended-release tramadol hydrochloride) 100mg tablets from pharmacies and wholesalers. Biovail is taking this action as a result of certain lots being out-of-specification by approximately 1% with respect to maximum dissolution at the eight-hour mark. This minor dissolution variance does not impact patient health or safety.

Importantly, the root cause of the dissolution variance, which relates to excipients used in the coating process during the manufacturing of the tablets, has been identified and corrective measures are currently being implemented. Biovail estimates that the recall will negatively impact Ultram(R) ER revenues by $4.4 million in the fourth quarter of 2008, the majority of which is expected to be recognized in the first quarter of 2009 as replacement shipments of Ultram(R) ER 100mg tablets are made to Biovail's marketing partner, PriCara, a division of Ortho-McNeil-Janssen Pharmaceuticals, Inc. In addition, the voluntary recall is expected to result in inventory and administrative expenses of approximately $3.0 million in the fourth quarter of 2008. At this time, Biovail does not anticipate any product shortages at the pharmacy level.

These forward-looking statements relate to, among other things, our objectives, goals, targets, strategies, intentions, plans, beliefs, estimates and outlook, including, without limitation, statements concerning the anticipated impact to fourth-quarter 2008 Ultram(R) ER revenues, the expected inventory and administrative costs associated with the recall, the timing of expected shipments of replacement Ultram(R) ER 100mg product, the anticipated level of supply at pharmacies, and can generally be identified by the use of words such as "believe," "anticipate," "expect," "intend," "plan," "will," "may" and other similar expressions. Important factors that could cause actual results to differ materially from these expectations include, among other things: the difficulty of predicting U.S. Food and Drug Administration and Canadian Therapeutic Products Directorate approvals, acceptance and demand for new pharmaceutical products, the impact of competitive products and pricing, uncertainties associated with the development, acquisition and launch of new products, reliance on key strategic alliances, contractual disagreements with third parties, availability of raw materials and finished products, the regulatory environment, the expense, timing and uncertain outcome of legal and regulatory proceedings and settlements thereto, market liquidity for our common shares and our satisfaction of applicable laws for the repurchase of our common shares, availability of capital, satisfaction of applicable laws for dividend payments and the ability to generate operating cash flow, the continuation of the recent financial market turmoil, consolidated tax rate assumptions, fluctuations in operating results and other risks detailed from time to time in the Company's filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission and the Canadian Securities Administrators, as well as the Company's ability to anticipate and manage the risks associated with the foregoing. Additional information about these factors and about the material factors or assumptions underlying such forward-looking statements may be found in the body of this news release, as well as under the heading "Risk Factors" contained in Item 3(D) of Biovail's most recent Annual Report on Form 20-F and contained in Biovail's Form 6-K for the quarterly period ended September 30, 2008.

When relying on Biovail's forward-looking statements to make decisions with respect to the Company, investors and others should carefully consider the foregoing factors and other uncertainties and potential events.
