

Biovail Declares Quarterly Dividend, Announces Change in Dividend Policy

May 06, 2009

Total Dividends Declared Since December 2005 of $4.97 per share;

Additional $480 Million Expected Available to Accelerate New Strategic Focus through 2010

TORONTO--(BUSINESS WIRE)--May. 6, 2009-- Biovail Corporation (NYSE, TSX: BVF) today announced the Board of Directors has modified its dividend policy as a result of the Company's successful business-development efforts and due to probable additional near-term business-development activity. Biovail's new dividend policy contemplates the payment of a quarterly dividend of US$0.09 per common share. This represents a 3.2% dividend yield, based on the volume-weighted average price (VWAP) of Biovail shares on the New York Stock Exchange in the five trading days ended May 5, 2009.

The change in dividend policy makes approximately $180 million per annum of incremental cash flow available to the Company. When combined with the recent acquisition of U.S. rights to Wellbutrin XL® (bupropion hydrochloride extended-release tablets), Biovail expects incremental cash of approximately $480 million through 2010 should be available to shift Biovail to high growth and accelerate its New Strategic Focus.

"Since launching our New Strategic Focus a year ago, our business development efforts are generating results and building shareholder value. With the Prestwick and ACADIA transactions, Biovail has its first specialty CNS product in the U.S. and Canadian markets, which is exceeding expectations, and several interesting pipeline programs in specialty CNS with pimavanserin and tetrabenazine CR. In addition, the acquisition of U.S. rights to Wellbutrin XL® will provide a substantial immediate accretion to revenues, GAAP EPS and cash flow. Each of these is a major step toward our ultimate goal of making Biovail a leader in the specialty CNS market and a high-growth company," said Biovail Chief Executive Officer Bill Wells. "Due to our success to date and the number of additional high-quality opportunities we are working on, the Board determined it is in the interest of Biovail's shareholders to change the dividend policy, in order to provide additional resources and accelerate the Company's strategy. We remain committed to creating shareholder value and intend to use our additional cash to further strengthen our core business and build our specialty CNS development pipeline."

Pursuant to the new dividend policy, Biovail's Board today declared a quarterly cash dividend of US$0.09 per share payable on July 6, 2009, to shareholders of record at the close of business May 15, 2009. The ex-dividend date is May 13, 2009.

Upon payment of this dividend, Biovail will have distributed US$4.97 per share to shareholders since implementing its dividend program in December 2005.

The declaration of future dividends by Biovail pursuant to the dividend policy will be subject to the discretion of the Board and applicable laws and will be dependent upon the Company's financial condition and operating results.
