Bausch Health's Dermatology Business, Ortho Dermatologics, Announces the Launch of Biafine[®], an Iconic French Skincare Product, Through Convenient Online Ordering

The skin recovery emulsion for dry, sensitive, or stressed skin is now available through select online channels

LAVAL, QC, April 14, 2026 – Bausch Health Companies Inc. (NYSE:BHC)(TSX:BHC) and its dermatology business, Ortho Dermatologics, today announced Biafine[®] Skin Recovery Emulsion is now offered through convenient online ordering in the United States. The well-known French skincare formula is available through select online channels.

First developed in France in 1971, Biafine[®] is a lightweight emulsion formula designed to support the skin's natural barrier function while helping to maintain skin hydration and comfort. For decades, the formula has been recognized by dermatologists and consumers for its unique texture and versatility in skincare routines. The renowned formulation is gentle enough for sensitive skin, helps soothe skin, and is clinically proven to support the skin barrier. Its versatility in skincare routines has contributed to Biafine's recognition among dermatologists and consumers alike.

Tom Stern, Vice President and General Manager of the Ortho Dermatologics business reflected, "We are proud to offer dermatology practices and patients access to a formula that has earned the trust of both professionals and consumers for decades."

Biafine is available directly to patients through select online channels, including Amazon. Dermatology practices can provide the product through the Ortho Dermatologics Direct platform which supports in-office access when a dermatologist recommends it as part of a skincare regimen.
